PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, South Dakota has established a reputation as "The Land of Infinite Variety" which is indicated by our extensive varieties of Wildlife which have given South Dakota national recognition; and

WHEREAS, it is incumbent upon South Dakotans who live in the Wildlife Paradise to make special efforts to preserve our Wildlife by stressing conservation of forests, stream pollution control and protection of all native habitat; and

WHEREAS, it is important to emphasize fair play afield by designation of a particular week in which we give recognition to the value of Wildlife Conservation.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Sigurd Anderson, Governor of the State of South Dakota, do hereby designate the week of March 21-27, 1954, as in South Dakota, and respectfully urge every citizen to recognize the importance of the problems of conservation and to work with the thought of protection and preservation, and to reflect upon America's riches of natural resources and the importance to our future well-being of perpetuating them.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of South Dakota to be affixed this 9th day of March, 1954.
